

Mediation Centers

The Nebraska Health and Human Services System (HHSS), Child Support Enforcement is restricted by federal and state regulations from being directly involved in custody and visitation issues. However, nonprofit organizations (Mediation Centers) and other government agencies awarded grant monies from HHSS help parents take a more active role in their children's lives, and help divorcing and never-married parents resolve parenting conflicts through mediation and parenting education services. Mediation services including the development of visitation schedules are offered to parents at either no cost or minimal costs based on income level.
